

Mazatlan

I was in Mazatlan for a conference and squeezed in some local diving, through a dive operator at one of the hotels. Underwater visibility on my two dives was cloudy and limited, perhaps fifteen feet max, so it was a macro photography dive. While the underwater sights I saw would not rank Mazatlan as a primary destination for diving, if you're there for some other reason, get wet and take a look around.

Copyright Peter Brueggeman